Living Justly: Christ-like living in a broken world - Week 2

Scott Pilgrim

Introduction

Our response to a situation is profoundly influenced by our personal perception of the situation, whether that perception is correct or not. Jesus uses this story of a needy Jewish man to help us see different responses to the same situation of brokenness.

Bible Passage

Luke 10:25-37

Discussion

1. What is the difference between “just activity” and a “just lifestyle”?
2. What is your understanding of the biblical meaning of being a good neighbour?
3. Do you respond to situations from a position of “how will this affect me” or “what is the need of this person?”
4. How would you describe Christ-like compassion?
5. What stops you from challenging injustice with Christ-like compassion?

Respond

We are sent out as wounded healers to a broken world. Who can you be Jesus to this week? Pray about that opportunity now and report back next week as to how you went.
